Judge Discharged Them After Receiving Appeal in Verse.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Washington, Jan. 31 .- 'Judga Devine was one of the best Judges who ever occupled a bench in my State," said Repre-sentative Russell of Texas, "but he was somewhat taken down once when, in the progress of a criminal case, an effort was made to coerce a verdict, the jury finding that it could not agree. The foreman, J. R. Sweet, addressed the following lines to the Judge:

Dear Judge Devine, do send us wine, Or something good to eat: For 'tis piain to see we can't agree. Your obedient servant-Sweet. "It was not many minutes after the re-ceipt of the note before a mistrial was declared."

RECEPTIONS COST MORE THAN SALARY.

President's Yearly $50,000 Far Too Small to Stand Strain of White House Functions.

A RECORD FOR LAVISHNESS.

Expenses of Society, Daughter and Family Making Inroads on Executive's Private Fortune.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Washington, Jan. 31.—President Roosevelt's elaborate entertaining at the White House is understood to be compelling him to make deep inroads upon his private

The $50,000 which he receives as salary from the Government is said to be far to small to stand the strain of a constant succession of receptions, dinners, lunchcons. musicales and teas.

The formal dinners at the White House have always been generous, but last year and this year they have been given on an unprecedented scale of elaborateness, Last Thursday the President gave a dinner for the judiclary, to which were bidden seventy-eight guests. This was followed by a dinner Friday night, at which twenty-four persons were present, and later in the evening there was a musicale for which 200 invitations were issued. The President gave a dinner last night at which the principal guests were Secretary Root and Governor Taft.

The White House is seldom without one or more "house guests," and sometimes there are half a dozen. The President himself defrays the bulk of the expenses of his household. The providing for the table comes out of his pocket. The furni-ture is purchased by the Government. Provision is made for the payment of some servants. He maintains a large and expensive stable, including several saddle horses for himself and Mrs. Roosevelt and ponies for his children DAUGHTER IS COSTLY.

Miss Roosevelt, the President's eldest daughter, who made her debut soon after daughter, who make her deout soon after he entered the White House, is popular both in Washington and New York society, and in addition to spending considerable time at the most brilliant social centers, she travels extensively and conducts quite an extended series of social functions at the White House. A large dance is to be given by her in February. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Kermit, his brother, are both in an expensive preparatory school. Ethel, the second daughter, attends the fashionable Cathedral School in this city.

Just how much the President spends outside of his salary each year it would be hard to say, but as an example of what less prominent public men spend can he cited the case of Secretary Root, who has spent $35,900 annually in addition to his salary of $3,000.

President McKinley, after five years in the White House, had saved $15,000, but he lived with extreme simplicity, Mrs. McKinley caring little for society. President Cleveland's investments were lucky, and he retired wealthy.

President Grant was the most elaborate entertainer before President Roosevelt, and the next most generous hest was President Hayes. he entered the White House, is popular

Chicago, Jan. 31.—According to a report submitted by Dean George E. Vincent to President Harper of the University of Chicago, the experiment of segregating the cago, the experiment of segregating the Vincent in his report says:

"Unofficially, various instructors who have taught the classes exclusively for men or women bave told me that from their experience they believe segregation is going to work out as an educational and social succers. One interesting feature of the situation is that several of ture of the situation is that several of the instructors who were radically opposed to segregation now say that their experience leads them to favor it heartily."

"The girls and boys do not have any chance to look at one another and be distracted in the classroom work," said Professor Charles Chandler, who has taught segregated Latin classes. "I favored coeducation and voted against segregation. But I must say that as a result of the year's impressions I am now convinced that segregation is better. In my classes there has been better concentration and the students have accomplished more than before segregation."

sexes in the junior college work during Frisco and Goulds for an entrance into the past year has been a success. Dean New Orleans, the following official state ment has been made: "The joint traffic contract between the Iron Mountain and Texas Pacific on the one hand and the St. Louis and San Francisco on the other has been under negotiation for some time, and an understanding has been substantially reached for use by the St. Louis and San Francisco of the railroad now being built by the Gould interests from a point opposite Memphis to a point opposite Baton Rouge, from whence it is generally understood that the St. Louis and San Francisco expects to reach New Orleans by the Illinois Central Railroad, with which company it is said an understanding has been had with this end in view."

It was learned soon after the purchase of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois and the St. Louis and Memphis and Southeastern by the Frisco in 1962 that a new North and South trunk line would be established between Chicago and New Orleans by the interests in control of the Frisco system. It was first planned to build an independent connection between Memphis and New Orleans along the west side of the Mississippi to complete the low grade to the Southern terminals purchased jointly with the Southern Railway.

A decision was reached, however, before retual construction began to abandon that idea for a trackage contract with one of the lines operating between Memphis and New Orleans. Negotiations opened with the Gould lines, but a misunderstanding arose over the right of the Frisco to solicit traffic at local points, and the deal was called off, to be opened again by the Gould Interesta after the Frisco had made a temporary working agreement with the Mobile and Ohio for an entrance into New Orleans.

The balance will be completed during the calendar year.

Ship Six Hundred Carloads. REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Rogers, Ark., Jan. 31.-An organization. comprising all the principal strawberryhipping points of Washington and Benton counties, was formed here last week un-der the name of the Northwest Arkansas Berry Shippers' Association.

The thirteen associations represented at the meeting have a combined acreage of 6,000 acres of strawberries and expect to ship at least 600 cars of berries this spring. C. J. Chapman of Springdale was elected general manager, and the headquarters of the association will be at Springdale. The general manager will be assisted by a Board of Directors, consisting of one member from each local association, and all cars will be routed by this board. All reports as to the condition of the crop are most encouraging, and the growers are looking for one of the largest crops in the history of the industry.

Last year the crop was light, but the late rains were very favorable for the frowth of the plans, and they are in good shape. The strawberry acreage at the principal points is estimated as follows: Gentry, 400 acres; Rogers, 300; Sloam Springs, 300; Decatur, 125; Springdale, 1,000; Liburn, 600; Fayetteville, 600; Farmington, 400; Johnson, 1,000; Prairie Grove, 200; Avoca, 175; Garfield, 150; Lowell, 125.
